

Healthcare

A PRIORITY SECTOR in San Diego County

San Diego
Workforce
Partnership

At the intersection of technology, science and empathy lies healthcare. From one-on-one roles like nursing to operating electromagnetic rays to solve medical mysteries, roles in the health care field work to keep the public healthy and well, quickly solving problems when something goes wrong. This field calls for workers who are both people- and detail-oriented with a desire to help others.

How do I start my career?

Do some research

- Use Career Coach at workforce.org/careercoach to explore which occupations align with your interests, see a behind-the-scenes peek at what a career looks like and discover local companies.

Expand your network

- Use social media tools like LinkedIn to network with professionals. Request an informational interview to ask them about their career path, education and job responsibilities.
- Volunteer at a hospital to meet and interact with professionals in the medical field.

Get hands-on experience

- Volunteer to gain experience at places like UCSD Health or Family Health Centers of San Diego.
- Apply to an internship
 - Rady Children's Hospital San Diego (jobs.rchsd.org/internships)
 - Sharp Healthcare (sharp.com/interns-fellows)

Get training

- There are so many jobs in healthcare that start with a short certification program and allow you to build your career with further training and experience. Find these programs at your local community colleges and adult education providers. Visit CareerEd.org or search:

Did you know that jobs in healthcare are considered "recession-proof?" Employment in this sector increased during the Great Recession while most other sectors declined.
